2 sides closer in GC school dispute

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Granite City District Nine students remain out of the schools, where most teachers are declining to report and most other employees are laid off, but additional progress was made during last night's 7 to midnight negotiations.

Talks between a team of administrators and board members and a team from Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743 will resume at 1 p.m. today.

It is possible that students may be asked to report for a half-day of classes tomorrow or Tuesday, but this depends on an agreement being reached. Full-day classes would follow the initial half-day. No further opening faculty workshops are planned.

Supt. B.J. Davis will not announce Friday's school district plans until this evening; he has begun deciding about 9:30 each night this week whether to schedule classes the next day.

The fall term was to have begun with teacher workshops Aug. 22 and pupils in classrooms Aug. 23.

Teachers stressed Monday night and Tuesday that they favor a salary schedule freeze, class sizes of 32 to 36, and three-year recall rights for 129 hourly dismissed faculty members.

Negotiators met for four hours Tuesday night, from 8 to midnight, before returning to the bargaining table last night.

A public forum sponsored by Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743 has been set for 7 tonight at the Township Building, 2400 Delmar Ave.

The board declined Monday night to attend tonight's public discussion, noting that private talks between the two negotiating teams were continuing.

Board members acknowledged Monday that the local has said it will accept sixth-day enrollment as a guide to teacher assignments.

They commented that the best way this can be accomplished is to have six days of school. Then, if the board did not adequately resolve any overcrowding, teachers could again fail to report, it was asserted. There has been no strike; most teachers have been deciding individually not to work until an agreement has been achieved.

"Let's open the schools," a circular distributed by Local 743 said in announcing tonight's forum.

"Let's open the schools," Granite City school district negotiators also said, in urging the faculty to teach for six days and put the district's sixth-day enrollment adjustments to a test. The sixth day is utilized by the state for enrollment statistics.

A new pact for the period beginning Aug. 15, 1983, would cover a one-year period: Two-year agreements were reached after disputes delayed the fall term in 1979 and 1981.

The circulars mention that "the Board of Education has been invited to state their position."

A letter to President Donald Stucke, inviting him and other board members to the forum, was read at Monday night's special board session.

A mailgram sent by Stucke at 10:41 p.m. Monday to Local 743 President Shirley Stoll related that the "Board of Education has your letter of Aug. 28, 1983.

"When our negotiating teams last met Sunday evening, your representatives told ours that another session would be arranged tonight after your meeting adjourned, or tomorrow morning."

"Apparently we have not yet heard from you. But we do hope and trust that another session will be held and that it will be held before Thursday."

"Our team stands ready. Therefore, we see at this time no need to attend the public forum Thursday proposed by you."

"Our public forum is, of course, our official board meeting."

The circular inviting citizens to the gathering at the Township Building said:

"This is the Granite City Federation of Teachers' position, AFT, AFL-CIO Local 743:

"1. Salary schedule freeze.
"2. Class size: The Board of Education is asked to agree to maintain the following averages per grade per building: Kindergarten 33; grades 1 to 3, 32; grades 4 to 12, 36. Figures are to be based on the sixth-day enrollment."

"3. Seniority: Recall: Teachers want the Board of Education to extend the recall rights of laid-off teachers from the current one year to three years by contractual agreement. Teachers want seniority defined in the contract."

"These proposals allow the Board of Education to balance the budget," the teachers' circulars concluded.

A statement issued Monday night by

Madison levy stable

At their regular meeting on Tuesday, Madison City Council members placed on final adoption an ordinance calling for a tax levy which is basically the same as last year on all property in Madison.

The special funds affected by the levy are police pension, $25,000; public library, $18,000; liability insurance, $20,000; playground and recreation, $10,000; and Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund (IMRF), $82,000.

No taxes are levied for general corporate purposes.

Except for IMRF, Mayor Mike Sasyk

Police pay raise is rejected stated that the levy amounts "are the same as last year." IMRF rose from $73,000 in 1982-83 to $82,000 in 1983-84.

In other business, council members rejected another attempt by Alderman Don Garrett to propose a pay increase for sworn policemen in Madison.

Garrett's proposal called for a transfer of "not more than 10 percent of the (city burglar) alarm fund of $197,050 to the police department fund." The money was then to be used to give sworn policemen a 10 percent raise.

The council followed Mayor Sasyk's recommendation that Garrett's proposal be rejected, with only Garrett and Alderman Charles Rockett voting to approve the measure.

"I recommend that such a proposal

GC office workers, city reach accord

Granite City office workers finally have a formal working agreement with the city after working towards that goal for more than two years.

Mayor Paul Schuler signed the agreement Tuesday with the White Collar Chapter of Local 799 Council 31, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

The union represents about 19 city workers' positions, mostly clerical. It currently has a membership of 15.

The two-year agreement, due to expire April 30, 1985, contains no wage increases. It does include a clause automatically granting wage increases to white collar workers if salary hikes are given to other city unions.

Peggy Keltner, city payroll employee and one of the chief negotiators for the union, said the most important aspect of the agreement was having a written document to follow in the event of a work dispute. Disputes in the past have had to be based on rights that were open

Rockets hail labor parade

Rockets will signal the start of the Labor Day parade that will carry forward the "Solidarity III" theme to be celebrated nationwide.

Hundreds of Quao city area union members, their families and supporting organizations are expected to march along Madison Avenue Monday morning in a salute to labor.

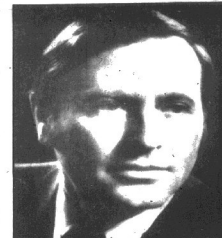

Similar demonstrations of solidarity will be conducted in 140 other communities across the country as part of the program being coordinated by the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations (AFL-CIO).

The third local march in recent history continues a theme begun by the AFL-CIO in 1961, when about 400,000 workers gathered in Washington, D.C., for the first Solidarity Day.

The Quad-City celebration will begin at 10 a.m. at Edison and Nierdinghous Avenues. Floats, marching bands and union workers will then proceed down Madison Avenue to Granite City High School.

Parade participants will begin assembling two hours earlier, at 8 a.m., at Edison and Nierdinghous avenues.

At 9 a.m. a rocket will be fired by a professional pyrotechnics firm from St. Louis in anticipation of the parade. An additional rocket will be fired each 15 minutes thereafter and at the moment the parade starts two rockets will be fired, according to Edwin Reiske, parade co-chairman with David Kins. Dignitaries to join the marchers are U.S. Senator Alan J. Dixon, AFL-CIO IL President Robert C. Gibson, State Sen. Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) and State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City). Mayors Paul Sculer of Granite City, Mike Sasyk of Madison, and Tyrone Echols of Venice also will be participating.

The Labor Day parade grand marshal will be Buddy W. Davis, United Brotherhood of America District 94 director.

The Venice-Madison Legion Post 307, color guard and units from the Amvets and American Legion Tri-City Post 118 will be featured.

Bands to be marching will be the Shrine Oriental Band, the Granite City High School Band and a group of professional musicians from the Musicians' Protective Union Local 717.

IEPA's Carlson urges regional treatment

Concern over the collection of user fees dominated a meeting between members of the Advisory Committee for the Review and Update of the Lansdowne Sewer Study and representatives of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency on Tuesday afternoon.

Several mayors of communities involved in the IEPA proposed regionalization of sewer treatment at a single facility were present at the meeting to express their views on the project.

Richard Carlson, director of the IEPA, explained two proposals for area wastewater treatment, admitting that the IEPA favors the proposal in which municipalities and townships in the proposed region would build sewers to send wastewater through the county's special service area to the Granite City Wastewater Treatment Facility. This proposal also includes the abandonment of the Lansdowne Wastewater Treatment Facility.

Cost factors and growth potential of the area prompted the IEPA to endorse this proposal over its alternative, the upgrading of the Lansdowne Facility from a primary treatment plant to a secondary treatment plant.

According to Carlson, the Granite City Treatment Facility has "an enormous amount of capacity" and is "way overbuilt," taking in only 8½ million gallons per day, while its capacity is 23 million gallons per day.

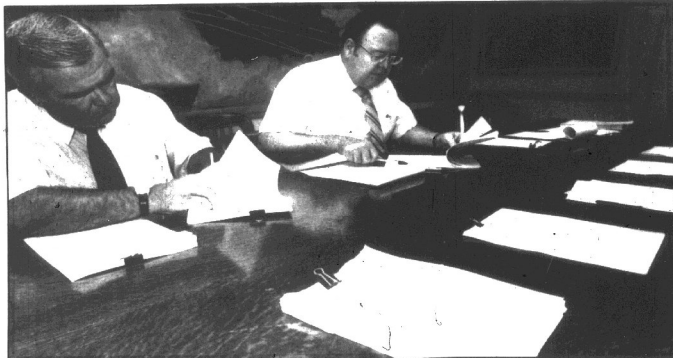

The municipalities of Venice, Madison, Brooklyn, Fairmont, City of Washington Park, unincorporated areas of Stites and Canton townships, and parts of Venice and Nameoki townships would be affected by the proposed regionalization.

The total project cost of the Lansdowne alternate is approximately $11,388,000, while the Granite City alternate will cost approximately $5,826,000. Annual operation and maintenance costs also are higher for the Lansdowne proposal at $395,000 to Granite City's $126,000.

For either proposal, the estimated average residential user charge per month would be $9.40.

Carlson stated that the proposed

Bi-State buys downtown St. Louis steam heat system

The Bi-State Development Agency Board of Commissioners has approved the purchase of the Downtown St. Louis Steam Distribution System from the Union Electric Company. The agreement was announced by Richard Baalman, chairman of the Bi-State Board and William Cornelius, president of Union Electric, which had previously approved the sale. John Booth, resource recovery program director and consultant to Bi-State, called this a giant step forward in a cooperative effort involving Bi-State, Union Electric, the city of St. Louis, and Thermal Resources Inc., of St. Louis, toward finding economic solutions to energy and waste disposal problems in the area. Thermal Resources of St. Louis will operate the steam system under contract with Bi-State. Thermal Resources also has purchased from Union Electric the Ashley Street Plant. Union Electric will receive about $3 million from Bi-State and Thermal Resources for the Ashley Plant and the steam distribution system, subject to final review and approval by the Missouri Public Service Commission. Financing for the system, including renovation and improvement costs for both the Ashley Plant and distribution system is to be secured by Thermal Resources from local commercial banks. The Ashley Plant and the downtown steam loop have been providing steam used mainly for heat to downtown buildings for about 60 years. The number of customers has been decreasing in recent years due to costly fuel oil which is burned to provide steam to the system, therefore, some customers have sought alternative sources. Thermal Resources will build a plant to use city of St. Louis trash to make steam for the downtown area. It will use the Ashley Plant for steam until the trash-to-energy system is completed, and then for steam peaking purposes in the winter.

The trash-to-energy system is expected to provide numerous benefits. The city of St. Louis needs an alternative to its present incinerators, which the federal government has said must be retired. The trash-to-energy system is expected to provide downtown merchants and businesses with a reliable, long-term, economical source of energy for present and future needs. The city of St. Louis, largest existing customer on the steam system, has signed a letter of intent to purchase steam from the system on a long-term basis, according to Carl Avers, president of Thermal Resources. Avers expects many other steam customers and new developers to take advantage of the opportunity to purchase steam energy at stable prices.

Ladies' Day at Fair on Friday

It will be Ladies' Day at the Du Quoin State Fair Friday with ladies being honored at a reception at the First Heat and equine ladies (filles) later having their big moment on the race track. At 11:30 a.m. Friday, every woman on the fairgrounds is being invited to come to the unique restaurant on the grounds to sip and visit together. It is a complimentary party for women only, sponsored by the fair management. Wives of visiting horsemen will be special guests. Also being honored at the reception is Virginia L. Marmaduke, retired newspaperwoman and broadcaster now living in Pinckneyville. A lifetime fan of the trotting horse and a fan of the Du Quoin State Fair since its inception 61 years ago, Miss Marmaduke has been a volunteer staffer in the fair's preparatory department for the last 15 years. After the luncheon, the ladies will move to the grandstand where Miss Marmaduke will officiate as the first woman ever to preside as grand marshal at a championship trotting race. She will lead the filles to the post in their battle for the $114,000 purse in their division of the World Trotting Derby.

'Man-size' locomotive stops here

Press-Record Photos by Patrick Foley

When the Norfolk and Western steam locomotive stopped in Granite City during the weekend, it seemed to be not unlike other locomotives seen every day. Of course, it was different — thick black smoke billowing from its smoke stack, the shiny black bullet-like front, a coal car behind the engine.

One thing not so apparent, until a person walked up to the locomotive to get a closer look, was the enormous size of the steam-driven machine.

In the photo above, the huge wheels that drive the engine dwarf one of the two men who operated the train for the National Railway Historical Society.

At right, an overall view of the engine and accompanying railcars being viewed by several people to give some perspective of the size of the steam locomotive.

BURGLAR RANSACKS MADISON DWELLING

The home of Anna Ropac of the 1300 block of Grand Avenue, Madison, was ransacked and the contents of drawers and cabinets were dumped onto the floor by a burglar, it was reported at 6:45 p.m. Monday.

A door window had been removed to get inside the dwelling. Property was being inventoried to determine what items were missing.

PROWLING CHARGE

Granite City police charged a 13-year-old boy with prowling for allegedly entering a family's garage Monday evening in the 2100 block of Illinois Avenue. He was released to his parents to return for a hearing.

Labor is helping in hard times

Labor Day, 1983, a time for celebration for some and a time of sadness for those not fortunate enough to be in the labor force at this time.

Monday will be marked with the local Labor Day parade, televised football, family get-togethers and other activities.

It is a good time to reflect upon the contributions of organized labor over the years. Through hard economic times, including the Great Depression, labor banded, stretched and flexed its muscles when necessary to help this country survive and maintain the highest standard of living in the world.

Once again, in hard economic times in this area, labor has made concessions and is fighting to get the unemployed back to work while keeping local business and industry financially sound and viable.

We support the efforts of organized labor to help bring this area out of the current recession. Let's hope Labor Day 1984 brings high employment and prosperity for the area. With labor and management working together, we can do it.

Hospices-Medicare, a good team

The hospice movement has opened a door for dramatic change in one aspect of health care in America, not from a breakthrough in medical technology but from simple compassion and a better understanding of basic human needs. Hospices provide care for dying patients, treating emotional as well as physical pain, and doing so preferably in the patient's home rather than in a hospital or other institution.

Hospices have won almost universal praise and acceptance in their communities, and they have posed a problem for Medicare and other health insurance programs which cover only the expense of hospital care. Most of the patients seeking help from hospices are cancer victims, many of them Medicare clients.

Although the typical hospice relies heavily on volunteers for much of its counseling activity, hospices could not survive solely on fees and donations collected outside the insurance system.

A solution now is at hand with announcement by the Health and Human Services Department (HHS) that it is now ready to incorporate hospice care into the Medicare program on a three-year trial basis. A dispute over the maximum amount that Medicare would provide for care of a hospice patient has been settled in legislation now awaiting the president's signature.

The three-year period now beginning will provide answers to some lingering questions about how hospices will fit into the larger scheme of medical institutions. The rules and guidelines announced by HHS are based in part on the experience of 26 hospices serving as demonstration programs during the past year.

Although hospice care ordinarily can be provided in the home, at much less cost than care in a hospital, the hospice must assume responsibility for any medical or surgical needs for a patient that may arise. The reimbursement for hospice care has been set at 40 percent of the cost of treating the average dying patient in an acute-care hospital. Only time will tell whether this figure is realistic.

The impact of hospices on the overall bill for medical care in the United States remains difficult to assess. What is hardly at issue is that many persons faced with diagnosis of terminal illness would choose to spend their last days in their own bed rather than away from home, and that the ordeal of patients, and their families as well, can be eased by hospice counseling and care.

Let retirees keep tax shelter

Retired Americans with substantial incomes will soon find their Social Security benefits subject for the first time to the federal income tax. They will also have to report the interest they receive on state and local government bonds.

Since 1913, when the first income tax law was enacted, such "municipal" bonds have been tax-free. It has been believed that the U.S. Constitution forbids the collection of federal taxes on interest payments made by the states and political subdivisions of the states.

Now a previously little-noted provision of the Social Security rescue package signed into law by President Reagan earlier this year has come to light. It requires persons drawing Social Security benefits to report municipal bond interest along with their Social Security benefits as taxable income, if they have an annual income of $25,000 for a single person or $32,000 for a couple.

The drafters of this provision probably feared that, without it, wealthy Social Security recipients would transfer all their investments into tax-free municipals in order to avoid any tax liability.

The municipal bond industry fears the camel's nose is under the tent and the whole municipal bond tax shelter may collapse.

Until all state and municipal bond interest is subject to tax, the interest on such bonds held by individuals on Social Security should not be taxed. Congress should repeal this provision of the compromise. Untying this one small knot isn't going to make the whole rescue package fall apart, whatever dire predictions are being made by those opposed to repeal.

Illinois dogfight tourists, go home

Several of the dogs picked up at a dogfight arena later had to be destroyed due to their numerous wounds, attesting to the savagery of the "competition" that has been attracting crowds of spectators and bettors.

It is unfortunate that Illinois or any other state is still selling such activity in the supposedly enlightened year of 1983. The police raid took place Saturday in Don-Clair County animal control center in Belleville.

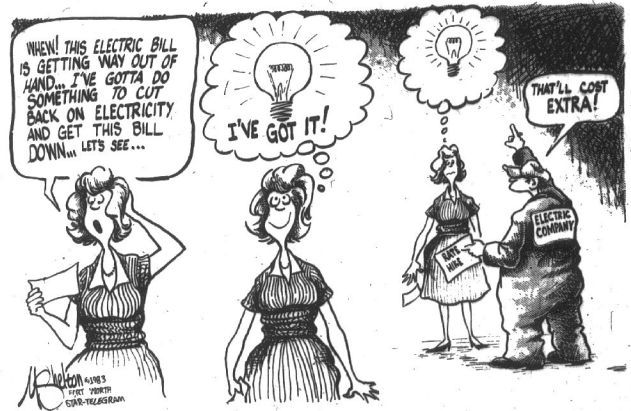

Some of the 35 pit bull terriers seized were in poor physical condition; one was missing a leg. What to do with them is uncertain; they have been trained for just one thing—to kill other dogs.

Seventy state troopers arrested 64 people who appeared to be betting thousands of dollars on brutal events in which one dog would die and one would survive. Those at the arena were from Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Kansas, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Surely, this is not the kind of activity needed to attract "tourists." The message of the raid is that Illinois does not welcome this kind of "tourists."

Quad-Cityans were asked this week about increasing utility costs, and in general, rising electric rates. Their reactions follow:

Howard Bryant, Granite City
"I don't approve of the rate hikes. I really don't see that the utility companies need it at all. I think that there is a lot of fabrication on the part of the companies."

Jewell Monague, Granite City
"I feel badly about it. A lot of people can't afford to pay. It's really hard for people with children and families to pay. It's unbelievable."

Pam Monroe, Granite City
"I think if people would stand together, they could fight it, but people won't stick up for what they believe in, so nothing can be done."

Tom Belusko, Granite City
"It's no good. You read the meter and every month it keeps going up. It's hard to keep paying when you're only working six months a year at the steel mill."

Teamwork brought new industries to area

To the Editor:

By now, you have read many articles concerning the two new steel processing facilities which have announced locations in the Tri-Cities area. There are, of course, Heidtman Steel Company and Cauffield Machinery, Inc. Together, they represent approximately 150 new jobs for our community.

The headlines generated by these companies are certainly welcome relief from plant closing announcements and soaring unemployment rates. While news articles have stressed the economic benefits of these plant openings, the location process itself deserves some attention. Both the Heidtman Steel and Cauffield Machinery projects are examples of what can be accomplished when development groups coordinate their efforts and work together toward a common goal. No one development group has the inhouse capabilities to provide all of the services necessary to attract and retain employers. Illinois Power Company, the Granite City Industrial Search Committee, the Madison County Community Development Agency, the Tri-City Regional Port, the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, the Madison County Office of Manpower Development and the Southwestern Illinois

Area-wide Business Development Finance Corporation all played a role in attracting these companies to the Tri-Cities.

While each organization has a specified area of expertise, long-term success will be measured by our ability to pool resources and offer consistent, well managed development incentives.

Businessmen aided in team fund raising

To the Editor:

On behalf of the Boushard Bulldogs boys soccer team and coaching staff, we would like to recognize two businessmen from the combined cities for their operation, help and support. If it were not for the complimentary tickets printed by Bob Thomas of Thomas Mortuary in Granite City and Ron Grzywacz of G&G Car Wash, for the use of his automatic car wash in Madison. The success of the fund-raising project would not have gotten off the ground.

The two businessmen

should be considered a high credit to their respective communities and for their on-going support of youth activities.

We would also like to recognize the people who purchased the tickets the parents for their support of the boys and to our sponsor, John Boushard of Boushard's Home Improvements.

Copies of a resolution protesting against the nearly trebled East Side Levee District tax rate were sent this week by the Granite City Taxpayers League to the levee board and the two similar tax leagues in East St. Louis and St. Clair County. The protest was aroused by the levee board's recent action in raising the annual appropriations from $167,000 to $443,350 which automatically increases the tax rate in this community as well as elsewhere in the district from 19 cents to over 49 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

in the two-county area, is the nearest to this community of any tracts under consideration by the SIU board of trustees. Slightly more than half the acreage is already under option and the university will now seek options on the remainder.

Six area projects were among 122 transportation and improvement projects for which bids totaling $39.1 million were received by the Illinois Department of Transportation Aug. 26. Apparent low bidders on the work include R. Don Electrical Co. of Granite City, which plans to furnish and install flashing beacons on Route 140 at the east and west junctions of Route 159 about 3 1/2 miles east of Bethalto. The contractor's estimate for the work was $7,300 and Dron bid $7,350.

Other Madison-St. Clair counties projects for which bids were received include two-tenths of a mile of bituminous surface removal, bridge slab deck repairs and surface treatment on a portion of the bridge carrying U.S. Route 67 over the Mississippi River at Alton. CAM Construction, Ltd., of Alton was the low bidder at $23,516.

LABOR DAY, 1983

Each Labor Day provides us with an opportunity to pay homage to the workers who have helped make America great.

I join with all Americans in saluting the contributions of the nation's working men and women, the most productive workers in the world.

The endeavors of today's workers and their unions assure that our country will have an even brighter future. Yet the bounty we have reaped from these laborers is not limited to mere products and services. Our workers have been one of the cornerstones of our democratic system. The values they have passed down from generation to generation have strengthened America as the land of opportunity.

Even though the nature of our labor has changed over the years, Americans still believe that all work is noble, in celebrating the efforts of American workers, past and present, we honor this fundamental truth as well.

On this day we also reflect on our foremost domestic challenge: providing job opportunities for all Americans who want to work. Through my Administration's Economic Recovery Program, we are bringing new hope to Americans. Already this year more than 1.1 million more Americans are employed than last December. The resurgence of our economy is bringing real jobs — jobs with a future — in the private sector.

The improved economic climate we now enjoy promises all Americans a prosperous future. I know that the nation's workforce will play a vital role in helping America realize the full economic potential.

to individual interpretation. Mrs. Kellner said.

The union negotiator said a second important consideration in the agreement is one-year departmental recall rights for laid off workers. The length of time, however, represents a compromise.

While collar workers initially submitted their request for union representation to the city's ad hoc negotiating committee in January, 1981. After several delays, recognition was given following a final union vote in June, 1981.

Negotiations have been continuing since that time for a written agreement acceptable to both the city and union. Mrs. Kellner said the wording of seniority rights for the mayor's secretary and a definition of work duties in connection with the salary scale has caused some delays.

"This has taken more than normal time," according to the union negotiator.

Office workers covered under the agreement are those in the office of the city treasurer, city clerk, comptroller, planning and zoning, air pollution, engineering, ambulance department, wastewater plant billing and police dispatchers and secretaries.

Clerical vacancies in those departments are to be opened first to current workers and are to be filled based on skill requirements and seniority rights, with the exception of certain exempt positions.

They are the secretaries to the mayor, fire chief and police chief, the deputy city clerk and the deputy city treasurer.

Those employees may come from outside the city workers' ranks but, once hired, will be eligible for seniority rights within their respective departments. The mayor's secretary will be considered an employee of the comptroller's office for seniority rights in vacation scheduling and layoffs.

Live music will be provided by the musicians' union. Trophies will be awarded to the winning floats and to the union with the highest percentage of members participating in the march.

"We invite all friends of labor to join us in celebrating Solidarity Day III," Reiske, president of the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council, said.

Seek changes in schools' funding

A report recommending major changes in methods for Illinois public schools will be presented to the Illinois State Board of Education today in the Old State Capitol.

The report is the product of the Illinois Public School Finance Project, conducted over the past two years.

Work was coordinated by a technical advisory panel composed of lay citizens with an interest in education and with expertise in business and finance, plus representatives of various related branches of state government.

The study and its recommendations focus on concepts of equity and adequacy.

—Finding a process that will "generate adequate revenue for education on a basis that is fair to taxpayers," (2) equitably distribute state funds for education in ways that are fair to school districts and students' alike, and (3) encourage "local management practices that utilize resources effectively and efficiently."

The primary thrust of the study is a new formula for distributing state education funds.

The study recommended distributing nearly all state and federal funds on an "equalized basis through the use of a foundation formula."

Local school district fiscal needs would be determined by a "resource cost model," which allows specific costs to be assigned to a particular program or service offered by a school district.

The kinds of programs and services offered by a district vary due to the types of students enrolled, and the costs of those programs and services vary from district to district, depending on geographic location, district size and other factors.

The primary differences are taken into account in the resource cost model and in the distribution of funds as calculated by the formula.

In addition, the new formula would be used to distribute both general state and local funds, as well as such as special education funds, Illinois school lunch and education funds, and gifted education funds.

The current financing system is used to distribute general state aid and other individual formulas to distribute state aid to districts.

"Since the early years of state funding for education, change in the financing mechanism have been addressed by the General Assembly nearly every year, and that is a problem with the system that needs to be resolved," Robert Jamieson said.

"We've got to get away from going before the General Assembly every year and putting the educational needs of the state up for action without taking into consideration the costs and needs of education," Jamieson added.

A Peoria resident, he is chairman of the technical advisory panel.

"We can do a better job of financing education in Illinois than we are doing now," he asserted, and the changes recommended in this study are state-of-the-art in school finance."

Included among other major changes in the study are recommendations to:

—Change districts' nonreferendum tax rate levels to increase equity and access to revenue between district types (unit, elementary, secondary);

—Reduce the number of local assessing districts and centralize administrative functions of the local property tax to at least the county level. Property assessment procedures should also be standardized on a statewide basis using state guidelines, and the enforcement powers of state officials with responsibility for property taxes should be increased."

—Assess the "real property" utilities used for production, transmission or delivery of electricity "as is currently done, but return the remainder of those funds statewide."

—Allow the Chicago school district to levy a transportation tax and downstate districts to levy a textbook tax.

Measure local district wealth by a "combination of equalized assessed valuation per pupil and individual income within the local district."

—Prohibit districts from adopting an annual budget for their educational, operational, building and maintenance, transportation or working cash funds that "exceeds a budgeted revenue, cash and cash equivalents by 10 percent."

—Prohibit districts from selling two different levies during the same fiscal year, unless the state superintendent approves both the sales and a three-year financial plan proposed by the district.

—Require all counties to use the accelerated billing method to collect property taxes so that "initial collection could be made during the first quarter of the calendar year. Tax distribution should be made on a quarterly basis to help stabilize school districts' cash flows."

—Require the State Board to notify a district's administrators, school board and the citizens of the community if the board's financial monitoring system indicates that the district is approaching "severe financial problems."

The finance project also underscores the need to determine "program adequacy," using "specific standards which clearly establish the components of adequate elementary and secondary education programs."

Jamieson said that in the two years panel members and hundreds of other people statewide have worked to create an equitable system, they have not forsaken the idea of a quality education.

"We're not trying to compromise the educational standard of excellence as we try to work out funding problems. Equality of educational opportunity can't be separated from educational quality," he said.

"We are simply trying to measure what should be the adequate costs for providing a quality education for our children that will enhance their future."

Although the State Board is not scheduled to take any action on the report at this time, the information is expected to be turned over to a Board committee for discussion and public hearings during the next several months.

The report's timelines call for proposals to be drafted into bills and introduced in the General Assembly during the spring 1984 session.

Grant details cleared for A. O. Smith
The Madison County Board cleared away the final paperwork needed to loan A.O. Smith $2.5 million in federal money given to the county for economic development.

The action was taken in a special session earlier this week.

The board granted Chairman Nelson Hagnauer of Madison County the authority to sign a loan agreement with the automotive frame plant. The money will be repaid at eight percent interest over a 10-year period.

The money then will be received in the form of a Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG) from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Wednesday, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler signed documents granting tax-exempt status for $10 million in industrial revenue bonds for A.O. Smith. The bonds were expected to be sold by the firm this week.

Both the UDAG loan and the bonds will be used to equip the plant's future production line, which will use only about a third of the cost of the company's past operations here.

About 300 workers are expected to be employed sometime during mid-1983 when the new line is in full operation. No job applicants are being accepted this year.

The firm will initially produce assemblies for the front-wheel drive 1986 compact "Taurus" automobiles. The success of those car sales will determine the scale of operations at A.O. Smith.

Charge Venice man in burglary
Michael Stanley Lott, 18, of 608 Bissell Ave., Venice, was charged with burglary in an informational document issued Monday to the Madison Police Department through the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville at 8:20 a.m. Tuesday.

Lott was charged in connection with the alleged burglary of two tractor-trailer trucks, parked in the Ace Dorman parking lot on Fox Brothers Road, Madison, at 10 p.m. Saturday.

One of the truck drivers first notified Venice police that someone was in the cab of his truck after he saw a cigarette being lit by the person inside the cab.

Venice police contacted Madison officers who alleged seeing a man climbing over the fence and entering the lot.

One officer pursued the man on foot.

Lott was captured on Monday at the rear of the Steel Haulers office building. He allegedly had items from the trucks in his possession.

Calvary Baptist to hear editor
Calvary Baptist Church, 30th Street and Washington Avenue, will host speaker Bob Hastings, editor of "The Illinois Baptist," at two services Sunday.

He is scheduled to talk at 10:40 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The public is being invited.

Judges pick man to study prosecutor

By action of the eight circuit judges, special prosecutor James M. Weber has been named to investigate allegations by an attorney who is accusing Madison County State's Attorney Don W. Weber of misdeeds.

Paul Verticchio of Benid, a former Macoupin County state's attorney and circuit judge, will begin the investigation about Sept. 15 after clearing several cases in his Gillespie law practice. His son, Rick Verticchio, will assist him.

Weber yesterday assailed the plan. Circuit Judge A.A. Mateosian said the decision was agreed upon by the judges Tuesday afternoon.

Weber said, "I think the judges acted injudiciously, ruling on a complaint before the other side has been able to respond to it and have a hearing."

Amel Cueto, a Caseyville lawyer, circulated a letter in January, on Aug. 19, he filed a motion seeking a special prosecutor. Weber on Tuesday filed a $11 million libel suit against Cueto.

BULLETIN

U.S. Senator Charles Percy (R-Illinois) visiting the Tri-City Regional Port Authority at 9 a.m. today reported having received a telephone call confirming a Korean 747 commercial airliner had been shot down by a Soviet fighter plane in coastal waters north of Japan yesterday.

Among the 269 passengers aboard was U.S. Congressman Lawrence McDonald (D-Georgia), president of the John Birch Society. Initially, it was believed the airliner had landed on the island of Sakhalin in Soviet territory.

Arrest woman on burglary charge
A woman who allegedly entered the home of a Venice police officer was charged last week with residential burglary.

Glenn Jean Sherrod, 21, of 71 Venice Homes, Venice, was charged in an informational document issued through the Madison County state's attorney's office.

Venice Officer Daniel T. McKinney arrived home to find the front screen door open, and a side entrance door open. No one was inside the dwelling, but it was learned that a woman had just left.

Miss Sherrod was taken to custody on Circle Drive, Venice. She appeared in the Granite City court and bond was set at $20,000. A mittimus was issued and she was transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

IEPA's Carlson

regionalization project would "maximize the amount of money the state has and would serve the area most expeditiously."

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk voiced opposition to the Granite City alternative, saying that collection rates of user fees would force the users who pay their bills to compensate for those who do not.

"You're not looking at the collections," Mayor Sasyk commented. "The rate (of bills collected) is very poor in all 10 communities involved in Lansdowne."

Fairmont City Mayor John Wyrostek agreed with Mayor Sasyk, saying, "You need a legal mechanism which guarantees 100 percent collection rate to those who do pay. It's like saying to the ones that pay, let's seek them some more."

Carlson responded by saying, "There's a benefit to having as a broad-based a service area as possible. It gives you a much bigger area from which to draw." Carlson and James Leinicke, project manager for the South Section for Grant Section Division of the Water Pollution Control of the IEPA, indicated that collections would present the same problems with either proposal.

"Anytime you have several communities as tributaries to a single treatment facility, you are going to have a couple of deadbeats that someone has to cover," Carlson stated.

Referring to Mayor Sasyk's comment that Madison's collection rate is presently at 83 percent, Carlson said, "The 17 percent (not paying) would have to be subsidized by the city under any proposal."

Mayor Sasyk also reiterated earlier charges by Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols that certain communities do not want to be under the administration of Granite City because of conflicts that arose over the years, including the city ambulance service contract changes in 1982-83.

Defending his city, Mayor Paul Schuler admonished Mayor Sasyk for comparing the ambulance contracts with the regionalization proposal. "There's a lot of difference between ambulance service and this proposal," Schuler stated. "You are comparing apples to oranges and it can't be done."

Leinicke assured Mayor Sasyk that billing from the Granite City Treatment Facility would funnel through the Metro-East Sanitary District and the district would set the rates. "Granite City is not going to have anything to say about the rates," Leinicke said.

Carlson said that a decision on the regionalization proposal must be made within the month.

If an agreement is reached among the communities, the regional sewers could begin operation within three months.

A public hearing on the proposals will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 26, at the Madison Fire Station.

Madison levy

be rejected unless all (city) employees are involved and because the city doesn't have enough money in the budget to give pay raises to anyone," Mayor Sasyk said.

This was Garrett's second attempt to gain approval for a pay raise for city policemen. An ordinance introduced by Garrett at the last meeting was termed illegal by Council Attorney Casper Nighbhosian and subsequently rejected by the council. Garrett's proposal on Tuesday was the result of Nighbhosian's suggestion to propose the transfer of funds within the existing budget.

Council members also learned that the Madison County Community Development Committee has allocated $27,500 of housing funds to the city of Madison for renovation of homes in lower income families in Madison.

About $350,000 was distributed to communities in the county for housing renovation and construction.

Also among those receiving funds are Venice, Pontoon Beach, Venice Township-Eagle Park, Nameoki, Township and Chouteau Township.

According to Cheryll Joubert, program administrator of the Community Development office, all communities that requested funds received a portion of the amounts they requested.

Aldermen also approved the final adoption of an ordinance authorizing a 2½-year lease between Madison and SCA Services for the Chain of Rocks landfill on Chouteau Island.

According to the ordinance, the property "is no longer necessary or required for the use of the city of Madison," and the lease would allow the SCA to use the property for a solid waste landfill operation.

The Madison Lions Club was given approval to hold Candy Day Oct. 14. To benefit blind, visually impaired, deaf, and hearing impaired persons, the Lions give away candy and collect donations at various places in the city.

In accordance with a request by the Lions, aldermen voted to change the stoplight at Madison Avenue and Sixth Street to a blinking red light.

The Cystic Fibrosis Association also will have a roadblock at Madison Avenue and Sixth Street on the morning of Sept. 30.

Check appliances' energy efficiency

By CHARLIE WATERS
I've often thought of the hardship that people endured before appliances. Of course, in the 1920s and 1930s people didn't miss their electric knives, TV sets or clothes dryers like we would miss them if they were taken away today.

As a society, we have come to depend on these convenient "necessities." Our parents, grandparents and such didn't know what they were missing.

With every advance in technology comes a tradeoff. With our use of appliances, we save time but become dependent on the electricity or gas used to power the appliance and the service it provides.

Often we tend to lose track of the skills we had before the appliance entered our lives.

Close to 9 percent of the energy used in this country goes into running our appliances. To give a better idea of what electricity costs a family, I called my local electric company and was supplied the following figures based on an average cost of four cents per kilowatt hour:

Color television, $26 cost per year.
Radio, $3.40.
Electric range with oven, $4.

Dishwasher, $14.
Electric frying pan, $7.60.

Water heater, $168.
Refrigerator (12 cu. ft.), $29; frostless, $48.

Freezer (15 cu. ft.), $48; frostless, $70.

Clothes dryer, $38.
Automatic washer, $4.20.

Coffee pot, also $4.20.
Heating pad, 40-cents.

Naturally, each household's use will vary but the above listing is intended to give a rough idea of average use and cost.

Just as an afterthought, let me share some suggestions that were given to me as I was researching this article:

1. A flow restrictor in your shower head can cut down your water use by up to four gallons a minute, thus cutting down on the use of the water heater.

2. Appliances that are not in good working order waste money. Try this: take a piece of paper and close the refrigerator door on it. If you can pull the paper out easily, the rubber sealing gasket needs replacing.

3. Avoid opening the oven door as much as possible when baking. Every time it is opened, you lose 25-degrees.

Many things can be done to save money by reducing appliance use. Perhaps the first thing to look for when buying an appliance is its Energy Efficiency Rating.

If there isn't a tag on the appliance, ask the dealer about the energy use of the appliance.

Hospice benefit attracts more than 350

NIGHT OF GYPSY MERRYMAKING. The goal for Hospice of Madison County's major fund-raising activity of the year, a dinner, auction and dance during the weekend, was $10,000 and all indications are that the goal was met, according to Rosemarie Lindner, public relations spokesman for Hospice. In the photo at the top, the crowd of more than 350 participates in an oral auction with auctioneer Terry "Bones" Allen in the middle of the stage and television personality Cliff St. James to the right of him.

At the bottom right, Cliff St. James welcomes everyone prior to the start of the auction.

Confidentiality rules relaxed on some mental health patients

Governor James R. Thompson has signed a measure to amend confidentiality laws to allow directors of mental health or developmental disabilities facilities to give police certain information about patients who have left without authorization.

"This measure will allow facility directors at these institutions to give police more information about patients who have left without authorization, thereby giving police a better chance of locating those missing persons and adding to the safety of citizens," the governor said. Senate Bill 791 affects only those patients who have been judicially or involuntarily admitted to the facility. It does not affect voluntary admissions.

If a law enforcement agency requests information on the patient from the facility, the facility director will now give the name, address, age, name of the nearest relative and a physical description of the patient. The facility director can only disclose information relating to diagnosis, treatment or an evaluation of the patient's mental or physical health if that director considers the information necessary to ensure the safety of the investigating officers or the general public.

Current law states that a facility director may only notify police that someone is on an unauthorized absence, and cannot release any additional information. Senate Bill 791 is effective Jan. 1, 1984.

Thompson said he also signed a bill that requires the State Property Tax Appeal Board to publish each year a representative sample of its rulings. Senate Bill 805 takes effect Jan. 1, 1985.

Danger of shocks from pressure washer

William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, today announced that consumers could receive a fatal shock from electrically-powered pressure washers if the power cord connections become wet or an internal short exists.

"A pressure washer is a device that is hooked up to a plumbing connection," Kempiners said. "It pumps water under high pressure through a hose, sometimes mixing the water with a cleaning solution. A pressure washer may be used to wash farm buildings or farm equipment, motor vehicles, outdoor power equipment, porches and houses," Kempiners added.

At least eight fatalities have been reported, one of which occurred in Illinois. The most recent electrocution victim was a 4-year-old Alabama boy who was killed when he contacted a pressure washer being used by his father.

Since a pressure washer is used to spray water, the power cord, washer and the person using it are often in contact with water. This can be a fatal combination, especially if the machine is not properly grounded.

It is important not to use "adapter plugs" to connect the three-wire plug to a two-prong household receptacle without properly grounding the adapter plug. Consumers should have three-wire receptacles checked by a competent person to assure that they are properly wired for grounding.

Director Kempiners urges consumers to take the following precautionary measures when using pressure washers:

—Always plug a three-wire grounded pressure washer into a properly grounded receptacle. If possible, use a receptacle protected by a ground fault circuit interrupter.

If an extension cord must be used, keep the power cord connection out of any standing water, and use a heavy duty three-wire properly grounded connector. Keep the connection as far away as possible from the item being washed and any water runoff.

—Wear rubber-soled tennis shoes or other footwear that provides some insulation when operating the pressure washer.

—Never cut or splice the power cord or extension cords.

—Never operate the pressure washer after it has tripped a ground fault interrupter or circuit breaker without first having it examined for electrical faults by a competent repair person.

—Never allow children to operate a pressure washer, and keep children at a safe distance when an adult is using a pressure washer.

Consumers have any incidents to report or wish further information, they may call the Consumer Protection Commission's toll-free hotline at 1-800-638-CPSC. A teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 1-800-638-8270.

Pontoon studies 65-acre commercial and residential development plat

The Pontoon Beach Village Board will consider a plat Sept. 13 for a 65-acre commercial and residential development along Route 111 just north of the Church of the Nazarene.

Heritage Log Homes of St. Louis is proposing rezoning of a 1,000 foot frontage parcel along Route 111, 600 feet deep, B-2 business for a commercial area to house a Lombardo's Restaurant, veterinary clinic and other businesses.

The remainder of the area is planned for R-1 single-family residential zoning being devoted to constructing 60 log-finished homes on half-acre lots.

The homes will start at $65,000. Photos of the log homes were shown to the village board at its last meeting and the board was favorable toward the development, asking Don Brandon of the company to bring back a plat for approval.

Brandon says the company hopes to have a display home completed on the lot by the end of October. There will be several different styles of homes offered, all using log finishes inside and out. All homes will be totally electric, including heating and cooling.

In other business at its last meeting, the board honored Jeffrey Cox for saving the life of a 7-year-old boy who nearly drowned in Long Lake April 30. Trustee Keith Biggs presented a heroism plaque to Cox on behalf of the village.

The board was informed that Pontoon Beach will receive $12,500 in community development funds in the next installment. The letter from Cheryl Joust of the county community development office was read at the meeting by Village Clerk Mary Warren.

The board authorized Village Board President Paul Bennett to try and negotiate a lease with farmer Gordon Gass for an eight-acre parcel the village owns along Route 111. Gass would like to farm the land, either on a crop sharing arrangement or a lease basis.

28 file for 17 school positions

Twenty-eight persons filed nominating petitions for 17 school and college board posts during filing periods that ended Monday afternoon. Balloting will take place Nov. 8.

The status of some candidates is changing as they withdraw or choose between four-year and two-year elective goals. Decisions are to be made by Saturday.

There are 11 candidates for five positions in the Granite City district, seven for five posts in the Venice school system, six for five Madison board positions and four for two Belleville Area College trustee posts.

Three persons are unopposed for three Madison positions if Frank Evans decides to run for four years rather than two years. The other four-year aspirants are President Sam Dymas and Donald Garrett. All three are incumbent board members.

Competing two two-year school posts in the Madison district are Paul Bargiel and Secretary James Ed. Newsome, incumbents, and Victor Valentine Sr.

Venice four-year candidates are Patricia King and three incumbents, President Wilbert Glasper, Percy Guest and Jerry Ciclo. Three such posts will be filled.

Also running in the Venice district are three who are seeking two two-year positions, Earl Hogan and incumbents Kirk Gardner and Matthew Meacham.

Granite City school district voters also will fill three four-year terms and two two-year terms.

Those running for four-year posts include Donald Gargac and two incumbents, Treasurer Dewey Melton and David Partney.

Both four-year and two-year petitions were filed by Kelly Hogan, Mrs. Ruth Lahr, Kenneth Davis and three incumbents, President Donald Stucke, Secretary George Moore and Robert Maxwell.

Two-year candidates include Alan Crider and Bob Braundmeier.

Two six-year terms are being sought in College District 522 by Miss Betty Gerfen of Freeburg, Richard Hunsaker of Belleville and two incumbents, Chairman Patricia Bartsokas of New Athens and Robert Dintelmeyer of Belleville.

MOTORIST CHARGED

Granite City police said they filed a driving under the influence charge against Gary E. Lindsey, 19, of 55 Country Lane Place Monday after an auto had been driven across lawns at 2587 and 2589 Emert Avenue. Large rocks marking a lawn perimeter were found scattered about. A witness said a car had weaved from lane to lane.

30-day sentence, fine, to get GED

In a court appearance Monday, Steven R. Wimbish, 18, of 1627 (rear) Third St., Madison, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville, fined $500 plus costs on each of three charges and placed on one year's probation.

Additionally, he was ordered by Associate Judge Thomas E. Hildebrand to make restitution in connection with two charges—criminal damage to property and misdemeanor theft—and to obtain a General Educational Development certificate.

Wimbish was transferred from the Madison police station to Granite City police headquarters during the weekend on three active warrants, alleging the two previously mentioned charges and criminal trespass to a motor vehicle.

He was taken to the county jail Monday afternoon.

Amisch hopes to trade workouts for Olympic gold

Currently Holds 11 Records at Paddlers Swim Club

By BELINDA CONLEY
of the Press-Record

While other boys his age are out playing, 14-year-old John Amisch is training. Amisch is a champion swimmer.

It takes a lot of hard work to excel at any sport, and swimming is no exception. Amisch's training routine includes swimming and weight training.

In the summer, Amisch trains five and one-half hours a day in the pool, and works out his legs and shoulders on Nautilus equipment twice a week.

During school months, John travels to Des Peres where he works out from 5 to 7 a.m. After a full day of school at DeSmet High School, he returns to Sugar Creek where he works out for another two hours.

On Saturdays, while the rest of the world is still sleeping, Amisch and his father get up at 3:45 a.m. and make the 45-minute journey to Sugar Creek where John begins working out his legs and shoulders on the Nautilus equipment at 5 a.m.

After two hours of weight training, Amisch gets in the pool, and swims laps for another two hours.

His hectic schedule may affect John's social life but not his grades. John, who is a freshman this year, is a straight 'A' student and puts the same energy into his studies as he does his swimming.

John is a good student, a lot of times he does his homework in the car on the way to and from practice."

"Winning means a lot to me. It makes me set my goals higher and work harder to reach those goals."

John Amisch
Swimmer

Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association championships at Summers Port in Alton, John broke records in the 100-yard breaststroke, the 100-yard backstroke, and took seven seconds off the record in the 200 yard individual medley, an event in which he competes in more than one stroke.

With three first place finishes, Amisch captured the high point award. Amisch finished far ahead of his closest competitor who had two seconds and one first. This year's high point award was Amisch's third in four years.

Winning has become a habit for Amisch, but that winning routine has not affected his willingness to work hard.

"Winning means a lot to me. It makes me set my goals higher and work harder to reach those goals."

Besides his SWISA records, he also holds 11 pool records at Paddlers, seven of which he set just this year. Those seven records were, 100 yd. butterfly, 100 meter butterfly, 200 meter intermediate, 200 yd. intermediate, 100 yd. breaststroke, 100 meter backstroke, and 100 yd. backstroke.

According to Mrs. Amisch, John's father puts in as much time and work as John does, the only difference is that his father isn't in the pool.

The younger Amisch gives his parents much of the credit for his success.

"My parents have kept me in it. They've given up a lot of their own plans to take me to meets."

John's parents not only give of their time but also of their money. Many people do not realize just how expensive swimming can be. The fee to swim at Sugar Creek alone is $600 a year, and a single meet can cost up to $400.

John's parents think it is worth the expense to see their son do so well and continue to improve. He began swimming at the Tri-City Area YMCA when he was two years old. He showed promise early, qualifying for the state finals at the age of eight in his first year of competitive swimming. He didn't excel in his first state meet, but the small taste of success kept him interested in the sport.

At 10, Amisch again qualified for state, this time placing second in Illinois, in his age group.

When he reached the age of 11, he began swimming with Paddlers.

Amisch has been steadily improving ever since. He's to the point now that he is running away with local races, and consistently places second and third in the St. Louis area where the competition is tough.

John is proud of his accomplishments, but not satisfied. He has set his goals high for the future, hoping to qualify for the Junior National Olympics next year, and eventually the Olympic games.

"I first planned to compete in the 1984 Olympics, but I'm not ready yet, so I'm trying for the '88 Olympics."

John Amisch.

Harris hired to fill Perkins' vacancy

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

VENICE — Wednesday night, at a special meeting of the Venice Board of Education District 3, the Board approved the hiring of Clinton Harris to fill the vacancy left by Ken Perkins.

Harris, 22, fills the teaching and coaching vacancy left by Perkins before the start of the school to accept an assistant principal's position at Waterloo High School. Perkins formally announced his resignation on Aug. 18.

Wednesday night after a closed meeting, Venice Schools Superintendent Robert Vickers called Harris "the best candidate of those interviewed to fill both the coaching and the teaching duties."

Vickers said all the candidates for the position were qualified for the coaching position, but it was Harris who was best qualified to fill the social studies teaching requirement.

Harris, who is currently teaching physical education for the Lovejoy (Brooklyn) School District, holds a BS degree in physical education from Iowa State University (1974) with minors in sociology and history.

One candidate for the position was Bill Oehlendorf, former basketball coach at Venice and Granite City High School North.

Perkins' departure left vacancies in the athletic directorship and physical education as well as in the school's volleyball, basketball and softball programs.

In addition to the athletic vacancies, Perkins also taught social studies and speech communication.

Annette Oehlendorf, wife of Bill Oehlendorf and girls' physical education teacher at Venice High, has been named volleyball this year, assuming Perkins' coaching duties this fall.

Harris' duties, Vickers said, will consist of taking on Perkins' teaching duties as well as coaching Venice's basketball and girls' softball teams.

Perkins' resignation comes after being with the Venice School District for seven years. Along the way, as coach, he's led the Red Devils to three regional finals, championships in the Sports Mid-Winter Basketball Classic in 1979 and 1980. And, last year, Perkins led the Red Devils to a championship in the Freeburg Tournament as well as two consecutive, undefeated Illini-Gateway Conference Championships.

With that kind of success, it's easy to understand why it was difficult for Perkins to leave Venice.

"Venice has been an excellent place to teach," Perkins began. "They've been kind, fair and helped me mature as a teacher."

"I've never regretted teaching there at all. I've always been supported 100 percent in the classroom, although I may have been second guessed on the court," Perkins joked.

The former Red Devil coach said Wednesday night from his home that despite all the positive aspects at Venice, he felt as though he should move on to an administrative position, something he's been preparing himself for sometime.

Perkins graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in 1972 with a degree in government. In 1977, he received his masters from the University of Evansville in Indiana. In addition to his masters, he received a degree in physical education from Oakland City College.

In 1982, he received his administrative certificate from SIUE and is currently working towards his doctorate.

"Leaving Venice right now was very difficult for me," Perkins said. "I'm going to miss coaching those guys this year." He said referring to the Red Devil basketball team.

"But, I have to approach it this way. At the end of the year they'll be leaving me. They won't be there forever and neither could I."

Perkins' duties at Waterloo do not include coaching, but he stated that he has been leaving through the gymnasium just to see volleyball practice.

"I don't know if I'll ever be coaching again, but given the right circumstances I may be. After all, a principal's duty is supervision and so is a coach's."

Perkins said he and his wife, Kathy, plan to move closer to Waterloo. Kathy is currently an elementary teacher in the O'Fallon School District which is closer to Waterloo than Venice.

The Perkins' have one son Joshua, 3. Harris is single.

A student-athlete without a home...

Chul Ha is like most 16-year-old boys. He enjoys sports, reading, the company of other boys his age, and like most intelligent youths his age, he's looking towards college.

Yes, Chul is similar to many other boys.

But, too, he's different.

Chul is a Korean emigrant, who now makes his home in Granite City. He and his mother left their home in Seoul, Korea, last year so Chul could get a better education in this country. His father has remained in Korea until he can sell the family's property.

He arrived in St. Louis on Aug. 25, 1982, and through a friend, was located in Granite City. Knowing little English upon his arrival, things were not easy for him at first. But, with the aid of tutors at Granite City High School, his English vocabulary is expanding.

A bright student, he got straight A's in the spring semester at Granite City South High School in all but one of his classes. In that one class, speech communication, he received a "C."

His curriculum this fall will include two math classes, Geometry IA and Algebra 3A, in addition to his required classes for graduation. Classmates who know him call him a "math whiz."

It's safe to say that Chul is easily adjusting to the American lifestyle. One thing that has helped him "fit in" with his friends at school has been his participation on Granite City High School's soccer team. A midfielder, the camaraderie, he says, that he feels on the team has done much towards making him feel welcome. He's never played organized soccer and by the Warriors' standards, he appears to be average.

By his first anniversary in the U.S., just 10 days ago, everything seemed to be going Chul's way.

Then one day last week, things drastically changed. His mother, who had been unable to get a suitable job in this area, moved to Chicago where she had been offered a secretarial training position.

To complicate things further, the host family he'd been living with has asked that Chul find another place to live.

They gave him one week. "I don't blame them for wanting me to leave," Chul said. "I just want to stay in Granite City, and if I don't find a place to live, I'm going to have to move to Chicago with my mother."

Chul said he'd enjoy living with his mother again, but he doesn't want to leave his friends in Granite City.

"Coming to America was very tough for me at first. When I first got here, I wanted to go home, back to Korea. But my friends here have made me forget the pain. I don't want to go to Chicago now and have to leave my friends and go through that all again. My mom said she understands," he said.

The only way Chul can avoid leaving his friends and Granite City would be if a local family would be willing to take him in.

"I'm not really that much pain," Chul said meaning he wouldn't be much of a burden to a host family. Apparently he wouldn't. The 5-foot-6 125-pound boy seems like he'd be little trouble. In the brief time I spent with him, he seems to be both polite and considerate.

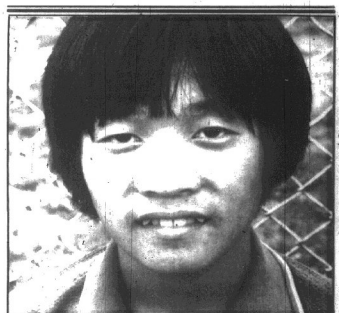

And as for the legalities, well, there would be very little there as well. Although he's not a naturalized citizen, he has his passport and visa which has been cleared by the United States government.

He estimates that he would need temporary residency through February, when he and his parents hope to rejoin in Granite City. Families which may be considering hosting Chul Ha should contact the sports department of the Granite City Press-Record during business hours at 876-2000. Ask for Alan in sports.

"I want to go to school in Granite City and I want to play soccer here," Chul concluded.

Here's a feather in the cap for Granite City and former athletes of Granite City High School/South.

Get this. Five former members of Granite City High School South's soccer teams have made their mark in the college ranks.

The five, Tony Pierce, Phil Beljanski, Jack Burnett, David Fernandez and David James, have each been named as captains of their respective college soccer teams.

Pierce is at the University of Connecticut; Beljanski is playing for Washington University; Burnett is at University of Evansville; Fernandez is at St. Louis University and James is playing for Illinois State University.

Congratulations guys.

Incredible Truck

BIGFOOT WINS. Bob Chandler of St. Louis drove his Bigfoot 4x4 Ford truck to victory Wednesday in a race held for broadcast on the television series "That's Incredible!" in November. The race was held at St. Louis International Speedway south of Madison. Bearfoot, a 4x4 truck owned by Madison's Jack Willman and Fred Shafer, was scheduled to be in the race but had to pull out because the race was moved back a day and interfered with prior commitments.

Athletics Likely To Resume Tuesday Delay cancels Warrior volleyball, soccer openers

The delay in the first day of classes in the Granite City School District has taken its toll on athletics.

Wednesday, Granite City High School's volleyball team, coached by Wilma Schulze, was scheduled to meet Cahokia. Because of the delay, that matchup will have to be rescheduled.

The second team to enter competition this fall was the Warrior soccer team. Today, the Warriors were scheduled to open their season against Alton Senior, but the Granite City delay and the Alton teachers' strike has postponed that game as well.

Tomorrow, the Warriors are slated to make their season home debut against Gateway East Conference rival Edwardsville. It's been the District's policy to cancel classes one day in advance. Wednesday night, District Nine Superintendent B. J. Davis cancelled Thursday's classes. The possibility of classes resuming Friday appears unlikely and thus jeopardizing the home opener against the Tigers.

In addition to both the Warrior volleyball and soccer teams, which are scheduled to play on Tuesday, Sept. 6, the Warrior cross-country and golf teams have matchups scheduled for Tuesday. If the delay is not resolved during the holiday weekend those games will be cancelled as well.

The Warrior football team is scheduled to open its season on Friday, Sept. 9,

At Du Quoin State Fair Schrader to pull double racing duty

DU QUOIN — Kenny Schrader of suburban Fenton, Mo., a great favorite of St. Louis area auto racing fans, will do double duty in the big weekend at Du Quoin State Fair on Sept. 4 and 5. Schrader was a frequent driver at Tri-City Speedway.

Schrader's entry to drive a 1982 Oldsmobile Cutlass entered by Ingersoll-Simons of Christopher, Ill., in the 100-mile USAC Late Model Stock Car event on Sunday, Sept. 4, was received last week.

Schrader already had been entered in the 100-mile USAC Gold/Silver Crown dirt championship race scheduled for Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 5.

Schrader is the defending USAC Silver Crown champion and currently ranks second in the Silver Crown standings to Gary Bettenhausen, who won the most recent Silver Crown event, the 100-mile at Springfield, Ill., on Saturday, Aug. 20. Schrader ran third in that event.

One of the most versatile and accomplished drivers of the USAC ranks, Schrader made his debut at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway this year, but a practice crash wiped out his chances to qualify for the 500-mile race. He is hoping to be back next year with new equipment and a better chance to make the race.

Schrader was named USAC Stock Car Rookie-of-the-Year in 1980 when he finished seventh in the point standings. He ranked third in the 1981 standings. He is also the current leader in the USAC National Sprint Car point standings.

Time table for the Sunday stock car event calls for practice at 12:30 p.m., qualifications at 1:15 p.m., and start of the 100-lap feature at 2:30 p.m. Monday's Gold/Silver Crown schedule includes practice at 10:30 a.m., qualifications at 11:15 a.m., 12-lap qualifying races at 1 and 1:30 p.m. and the 100-mile feature at 2:30 p.m.

Sports Briefs

Nelson's hosts Labor Day tourney

Lord Nelson's Sports Complex, located on Pontoon Road, is planning a "D" and an "Open" men's slow-pitch softball tournament during Labor Day holiday weekend.

The deadline for teams to get into the fall leagues is Friday, Sept. 2. There are openings for men's, lady's, co-ed slow-pitch softball teams.

League plays interest Sept. 5.

Team manager interested in registering their teams for the tourney or the fall leagues should call 931-5339 or 931-4497.

YMCA host volleyball leagues

The Tri-City Area YMCA has made several changes for the fall volleyball leagues. The changes are being made to improve the program.

The first change is the splitting of the league into two leagues. A Tuesday evening league will be held for individuals interested in playing power volleyball. This league will focus on the basic bump, set, spike technique as well as different multiple offenses.

The Saturday evening league will be set up for individuals who are interested in playing recreational volleyball. The recreational volleyball league will focus on relaxation, socialization, and just having a fun time. The second change will focus on switching to a point method for each game, rather than the best two out of three games.

The power league will hold a rules meeting Tuesday, Sept. 6 at 6 p.m. The recreational league will have their rules meeting Saturday, Sept. 10 at 6 p.m.

Sprint cars at Godfrey on Wednesday

Midwest Auto Racing Association Sprint cars will return to Godfrey Speedway this coming Wednesday, Sept. 7, as Kenny Schrader, last month's Sprint car feature winner, will lead the point leader, will be on hand to defend his championship.

Dan Frye Jr., of St. Charles, another top Sprint car driver, is expected to compete against Schrader for the feature win.

Gates open at 5:30 p.m. with races beginning two hours later. Adult ticket prices will be $6 and children are $2.

Godfrey Speedway, which is operated by Web Spalding, is located five miles north of Alton at the intersection of Highways 67 and 111.

YMCA pool schedule

The Tri-City Area YMCA will begin the fall swim schedule Tuesday, Sept. 6,

The schedule will include several open swims and classes.

Classes such as Diaper Dip (6 months to 2 years), Tadpole (3 years to 5 years), Polliwog, Minnow, Adult Classes, Swimastics (water exercise), and Arthritis (water exercise) will be offered. These classes will run, for eight weeks.

The YMCA will also offer several open swims. These open swims will include lap swims, recreational swims, and family swims.

The schedule is as follows: family swims—Tuesday and Thursday 8:30-10 p.m., Friday 8-9 p.m.; lap swims—Monday through Friday 7-9 a.m., 12-2 p.m., and Monday, Wednesday, Friday 4:45-6:30 p.m.; Tuesday and Thursday 5:30-6:30 p.m.; open adult recreational swim Monday and Wednesday 9:15-10 p.m.

For more information, persons should call the YMCA at 878-7200.

The Labor Day Fast-Pitch Tourney, an annual post season tournament, will begin Saturday, Sept. 3, according to Carl Tankley, tournament director.

The Thunderbirds, divisional and play champions of the Wilson Park League; Jacobsmeyer, defending second place in Park League; Tri-Metallurgical of Granite City; Nashville of Edwardsville; and Midwest Medical of Granite City will compete in the double-elimination tournament.

Thursday night pairings are: at 6 p.m. Jacobsmeyer vs. Tri-Metallurgical; and at 7:30 p.m. Midwest Medical vs. Thunderbirds.

There will be three games Friday, and four games Saturday. The championship game will be at 6:30 Saturday night.

YMCA golf tournament

The Tri-City area YMCA is hosting its first golf classic Oct. 1, at Arlington Golf Course. The proceeds of the tourney will support youth programs at the YMCA.

The four-man flighted scramble tournament begins at 10:30 a.m. and a steak social will follow competition at the new Madison Amvet's Post 204 at 1711 Kennedy in Madison.

Fee for the tournament is $50 which includes the steak social, beer, cart fee and other benefits. For those persons wishing to attend the steak social only, tickets are $30.

Reservations are limited. Persons wishing to register should mail their reservations to Michael Bilbre, Chairman, YMCA Golf Classic, 2001 Edison Ave., Granite City. Checks should be made payable to the YMCA.

Reservation deadline is Sept. 23.

Lewis will host the 18th annual national star-studded show from Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas, with Ed McMahon again as anchorman. Among the celebrities participating in the telethon will be David Brenner, Sammy Davis Jr., Michael Jackson, Wayne Newton, Dolly Parton, Ben Vereen, Merle Haggard, Helen Reddy, Vic Damone, Lola Falana, Ed Martino, Isabel Sanford and Casey Kasem.

"Live" St. Louis area segments will be presented at 15 minutes past each hour

KSDK is one of more than 200 stations carrying the Telethon. More than 92.5 million Americans watched last year's telethon.

Last year's telethon raised more than $29 million for the MDA's international fight against muscular dystrophy and related disorders. Of this total, $645,000 was pledged in the St. Louis viewing area.

St. Louis Telethon chairman is John K. Wallace Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of Imperial Products Corp. Former Cardinal baseball star Stan Musiel is the honorary chairman.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is spending more than $1 million this year on its research and patient service programs here. CHASED BY PONTON POLICE

Norman McEwen, 25, of Collinsville was arrested early this week at State Aid 35 and Illinois 111 after a high speed chase involving Collinsville and Pontoon Beach police.

Collinsville police reports say McEwen, on a motorcycle, prompted pursuit which began at Belt Line Road and Keeler. The reports said the suspect was traveling in excess of 95 mph.

He was stopped by Pontoon Beach police, who set up a roadblock at State Aid 35 and Illinois 111 and were awaiting the cyclist with guns drawn.

In addition to the DUI charge, McEwen was charged with fleeing and attempting to elude police and resisting arrest.

Knights set $1.25 million goal for state candy drive

The 77,000 Knights of Columbus in Illinois are in the process of making arrangements for their annual weekend fund-raising effort for the mentally retarded scheduled for Oct. 28 and 29 from one end of the state to the other.

Last year, the Knights raised in excess of $1.1 million for the mentally handicapped and this year the co-chairmen of the program, Ronald A. Ziembra of Mt. Prospect and Jack E. Collinsworth of Mattoon, expect to top that record with a collection of $1.25 million.

Since the mentally retarded program was launched back in 1970, Illinois Knights have raised in excess of $8.4 million for the mentally handicapped.

Gus Sundermeier Sr. of Oak Lawn, former chairman of the night's MR drive, is handling the Knights' charitable activity program for the second successive year.

K of C charitable activities, in addition to the mentally retarded program, include the Catholic fraternal society's Newman Apostolate program established on secular campuses throughout the state, and the Knights' State Disaster Fund.

Co-chairman Ziembra announced this week that the 1983 drive will be enhanced by a series of radio and television commercials featuring TV star Bob Newhart speaking on behalf of the Knights' Mentally Retarded campaign.

The theme for the annual drive this year will be "With Bob Newhart and You, We'll Reach One Million-Two."

Ziembra is confident that the one and a quarter-million goal will be attained because of greater public acceptance of the program and an expanded public relations program.

Nearly all the money collected during the two-day drive is returned to the community in which it was collected. Last year, local councils made substantial contributions to the sheltered workshops, special schools, associations, and mentally retarded organizations in their Illinois communities.

In the Archdiocese of Chicago, more than 100 councils collected in excess of $45,100 last fall for the mentally retarded. After deducting the cost of the candy used in promotion of the program and 10 percent of the gross set aside for statewide MR projects like the Illinois Special Olympics, Inc., the balance of the money was distributed to approved mentally retarded aid organizations by the local councils.

In the central and southern parts of Illinois, the Knights realized record collections for the mentally handicapped in spite of a lean economy.

The Peoria diocesan Knights collected more than $137,195 while Springfield Diocese topped $131,000. Even with record unemployment in the Belleville Diocese, the councils in that area collected approximately $180,500 for the "Special Children."

Under the terms of the Illinois K of C MR drive, 10 percent of the gross collected each year is placed in a special fund earmarked for major mentally retarded aid projects. The fund, entitled K of C Charities, Inc., is governed by guidelines set up in compliance with the Internal Revenue Service, Illinois' attorney general's office and directives from the Knights' national headquarters in New Haven, Conn.

Urban plans to appeal sentence

Madison County has filed suit against former Collinsville attorney Ben Urban seeking a judgment of $128,300 to compensate for funds illegally diverted from the county.

Urban last week filed notice that he intends to appeal his sentence in the case.

Urban, who pleaded guilty last December to theft of bond money from state overweight truck cases, was sentenced to three years in prison and was ordered to make restitution to the county in the amount of $147,000.

Purpose of the civil suit, filed Aug. 23, is to make sure the county's suit seeks less than the total $147,000 but reportedly was to be amended this week to include the entire amount.

Urban has not begun serving his prison term. The Fifth District Appellate Court in Mt. Vernon has denied a motion for a reduction of his sentence, and Urban last week filed notice that he will take his appeal to the state Supreme Court.

Urban was charged with rising phony dismissal orders for overweight truck cases, using photocopies of signatures of judges and state's attorneys to make the dismissal orders appear legitimate.

Once the cases were dismissed, bond money held by the circuit clerk was refunded to Urban, who said he represented the truckers' attorneys to make the dismissal orders appear legitimate.

Authorities say Urban then would forge the name of the client on the refunded bond check and would deposit the money into one of seven accounts he controlled.

Authorities say the scheme worked for a time because many truckers forfeit the bond money rather than go to court.

For several years the Knights sponsored a lead mobile manned by technicians from the Illinois Association for Retarded Children.

Hundreds of youngsters tested for ingestion of lead from paint chips were saved from possible serious organ malfunction and brain damage by tests in the lead mobile.

More recently, the Knights have been donating substantial sums of money to the Illinois Special Olympics, Inc., helping the mentally handicapped participate in their winter and summer Olympic games.

The candy product used in "selling" the program, plus minimal promotional costs sustained by the participating councils are the only expenses deducted. All monies collected during the two-day drive are placed in a charitable trust. Upon request of the local council monies is donated to specified community mentally retarded aid organizations.

Volunteers from several of the community mentally retarded aid organizations as well as students and members of the K of C families will be working in intersections and highways waving canisters and wearing numbered orange-colored jackets.

Fun-N-Fitness scholarships are sought

This week's request from the Tri-Cities Area YMCA Gift Catalog is one nearly anyone can afford and is sure to provide enjoyment for children who benefit from the gift, according to David Pamrie, executive director of the YMCA.

Area residents, groups, churches, schools and businesses are being asked to donate scholarships for the Fun-N-Fitness program, an after-school child-care program for children ages 6 to 12 who are unable to pay for the program. Physical fitness through fun is taught.

Scholarships can range from $3 upwards. A $3 donation to the YMCA can sponsor a child for a day. For $15, a child can be sponsored for a week, $60 for a month and $540 for a year.

The YMCA Gift Catalog lists items which could improve the YMCA or open its services to more people. Items range from the $3 scholarship to $1,500 for a new and badly-needed photocopy machine.

Each week, the Press-Record features an item from the Gifts Catalog. Persons responding to the request will receive a certificate of appreciation from the YMCA and recognition in the Press-Record, if desired. All donations are tax deductible.

For larger items, plaques or memorials can be arranged.

The boy was treated at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center.

FUN EXERCISES are taught in the Fun-N-Fitness after-school program of the Tri-Cities Area YMCA for children ages 6 to 12. Area residents, businesses and groups are being requested to donate scholarships ranging from $3 a day to $540 per year for children unable to afford to pay for the program.

Antique Auto & Sports Car Meet in Springfield Sept. 10

Secretary of State Jim Edgar has announced that the 32nd annual Antique Auto and Sports Car Meet will be Saturday, Sept. 10 in Springfield at the Lake Springfield site of the Muni Opera.

"Auto enthusiasts from across Springfield and the Midwest are polishing their prized automobiles for this year's competition," Edgar said.

"Last year, a record 273 automobiles were entered in the meet, up nearly 50 percent from the previous show. We are expecting the number of entries to continue growing this year," he said.

The proceeds from the Antique Auto and Sports Car

Meet, which includes a flea market and swap meet, will go to the Illinois Heart Association.

Edgar said awards will be presented to five division winners, as well as first, second and third place winners in 43 classes.

"Each year a different automobile manufacturer is honored with the presentation of a special Marquis award," Edgar said. "This year the award will honor Chrysler vehicles and all Chrysler automobiles will be eligible for the competition," he added.

Information on how to enter the 32nd annual Antique Auto and Sports Car Meet, Swap Meet and Flea Market is available from the secretary of state's office, 131 Centennial Building, Springfield, Ill. 62756.

Thompson, Block touring crop-damaged farm today

Governor James R. Thompson said Tuesday that U. S. Agriculture Secretary John R. Block will join him in a tour of a Bond County farm today as they survey crop conditions affected by the summer's very dry weather.

"I'm very pleased that Secretary Block has accepted by invitation to visit Illinois on Thursday and see the disastrous consequences of the drought that we've been suffering," the governor said.

"Out of our tour I hope will come the possibility of speedy federal action to alleviate the plight of our agriculture and agribusiness industry in the state," he said.

Block and Thompson were to tour a 450-acre farm near Greenville around 2 p.m. today to give the secretary a first-hand look at the conditions facing Illinois farmers.

This year, Block also was tentatively set to visit farms in Missouri and Iowa later today.

The farm is operated by Rich Weiss, who grows corn, soybeans, wheat and raises livestock. Grain production at the farm, which is owned by Weiss' uncle, Hollis McCasland, will be far below levels reached during normal growing conditions.

The governor was tentatively scheduled to meet Secretary Block at St. Louis Lambert Airport early this afternoon and then fly on a National Guard helicopter to the Weiss-McCasland farm.

Matthew 8:32 "...And He will send them into the world."

Here is a Bible story of Jesus casting out devils.

These two men were possessed with devils and described as exceeding fierce. There really are spirits that cause irrational behavior. Anger, malice, revenge, and the inability to cope with any amount of pressure, can usually be traced to this source. Counseling, drugs, or confinement may bring temporary relief, but the real and lasting cure is the Spirit of God.

Christ will change your heart. He will purify your mind. He alone has that power. He is the way, the truth, and the life. When you give yourself to Him - mind, body, and soul - He only has to say to the demon spirits, "Go!", and they have to go.

If you need deliverance, ask God to help you, or seek out one who knows how to pray in faith.

Do It, Today.

Murder charge against Jeffries

Harold Jeffries, 48, of Granite City and St. Louis, was charged Monday with murder, armed robbery and home invasion in the death
Dec. 9, 1982, of Gary Rook,
31, of Collinsville.

A criminal information was filed by Madison County State's Attorney Don W.
Weber this week. Chief Karrick ordered Jeffries held without bond.

Jeffries currently is in custody in St. Clair County awaiting trial on unrelated robbery charges.

Weber said he will seek the death penalty for Jeffries.
He is charged to have been an accomplice of Terry Wilson, 27, of Madison in the killing of Mr. Rook.

Wilson was convicted in June of murder, armed robbery and burglary for his role in the slaying and was sentenced to 60, 45 and 14
years in prison, respectively, on those charges. The Wilson sentencing by Associate Judge Edward
Perguson took place July 28.

It is contended that Wilson and Jeffries forced their way into the Rook apartment and ordered Mr. Rook, his wife, Julie, and three other family members into an upstairs bedroom. All were ordered to lie face-down on the floor.

Mr. Rook then was shot in the back of the head,
authorities said.

It will be alleged that Jeffries fired the weapon, and that he planned the murder along with Wilson and a third man.

The third individual is said to have driven the getaway car; he is quoted as saying he sold marijuana to Mr.
Rook the previous day and noticed large amounts of cash in a bedroom drawer.

Prosecutors say Wilson
and Jeffries forced their way into the apartment, initially posing as narcotics agents and demanding money and drugs. About $4,000 and a pound of marijuana were taken, it is being asserted.

Mrs. Rook testified that her husband was shot after apparently glancing up at the assailants.

Others in the apartment at the time included the victim's brother, Jerry Rook; Jerry's wife, Tina; and Randy Rook, a cousin.

In still another case, Jeffries was sentenced in June 1983 to 35 years in prison for the Jan. 17 armed robbery of the Schnucks Market in Granite City Circuit Judge
P.J. O'Neill presided. A guilty plea was submitted in May.

Cooperation by Granite City, Madison and Venice
police had led to Jeffries' capture at 14th Street and Grand Avenue a few minutes after the supermarket was robbed with a .357-caliber revolver.

A paper sack containing several hundred dollars from the store safe was recovered from the car he was driving.

Captured after an auto
chase, he was wearing a wig.
The gun was on the right
floorboard of the car,
whose ignition had been punched out.

MEAL BILL UNPAID
David A. Matfield, 22, of 2717 Myrtle Ave. and David
W. Powderly, 19, of 2714
Myrtle were arrested at 11:55 p.m. Tuesday in the 1700 block of Madison Avenue on charges of "theft of services." It is alleged they failed to pay a $5.16 meal bill several minutes earlier at Curt's Grill, 1623 Madison.

PICK UP YOUTH, 15,
FROM COLLINSVILLE.

After a 15-year-old youth from Collinsville was seen riding a bicycle in Kirkpatrick Homes in the early hours this week and said he was staying with friends in the area, he was told by an officer of the indoors.

Returning a short time later, the officer allegedly found the boy looking through a window in the 1100
block of the housing complex.

A check with a relative disclosed the youth was on probation for burglary and further inquiries revealed that he had been ordered to stay away from Granite City and, specifically, the housing complex by his probation officer.

The latter advised transferring the youth to a detention center. A juvenile petition alleging curfew violation was to be sought, reports said.

Hearing on bank holding companies insurance plan

State Representative Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) attended an Insurance Laws and Study Commission hearing in Chicago during the past week at which meeting the subject of the licensing of Bank Holding Companies to solicit general property and casualty insurance was discussed. Wolf said the hearing room was packed with an audience of about 90 to 100 persons together with 12 individuals who testified before the commission members, chaired by Representative Richard Maulino of Springfield.

Among those appearing before the commission were William T. O'Donnell and Michael C. Keenan of the Illinois Life Underwriters Assn., Robert Weinberger of the Continental National Bank-Chicago, Dick Rogers of the Department of Insurance, state of Illinois, Tom Wilson of the Independent Insurance Agents' Association, Carolyn Cobb of the American Council of Life

Insurers, Harold Dodd of the Illinois Farmers' Union and Keith Johnson of the Tri-County Bank of San Jose, Illinois.

Considerable opposition to the licensing of Bank Holding Companies to solicit insurance was evident in the testimony that was presented, Wolf said. Questions as to the ability of banks to provide the type of service to policyholders that is traditional with licensed insurance agent were presented.

Much emphasis was placed by several witnesses on the possibility of banks as lenders using that pressure to require potential borrowers to purchase insurance from their own insurance department rather than allowing the individual to place that insurance with an agent of his or her choosing.

"By virtue of their control over credit transactions, banks from bank holding companies are anointed with a very significant competitive advantage in the sale of non-banking services," Wolf said in quoting portions of the testimony of Tom Wilson of the Independent Insurance Agents Association. "As a practical matter, there are no safeguards that can be put into the law that will effectively correct a competitive imbalance created by conferring nonbanking powers—especially insurance powers—on large banking institutions," Wolf continued, "and for that reason, the separation that has been maintained between banking and commerce for more than 120 years should be continued unless evidence is presented by banks that the intermixing of banking and commerce would confer on the public substantial benefits that would outweigh any possible adverse effects."

There was no evidence presented at the Chicago hearing that would justify such a change," Wolf concluded. Wolf pointed out that present laws prohibit banks from soliciting insurance however, do not refer to Bank Holding Companies. Proposed legislation would include Bank Holding Companies in the prohibition clause. Hearings will be continued on this subject throughout the state, Wolf indicated, with possible presentation of the legislation to the General Assembly in the Spring of 1984.

McEvilly of Belleville, Mike Hunter of O'Fallon and Nola Cayson of Trenton. In the back row are Jeff Yakubinis of Collinsville, Lisa Green of Granite City, Denny Sheraka of Wood River and Becky Copeland of Granite City.

Student advisers prepare new SIUE students

By PAT JOINER
When Pam Osley of Trenton went through New Student Life (NSL) orientation at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville last year, she thought being a NSL adviser would be a great job. Now she knows she was right. Miss Osley, a sophomore majoring in television and radio, says she loves being an NSL adviser. She likes the idea of showing new students what college is like.

Darin Holmes of Fredonia, Kan., also a NSL adviser and a senior majoring in pre-dentistry, needed a summer job. The job of NSL adviser fits right in with his desire to be a dentist. He will be working with people all his life, and that's partly what the job of an NSL adviser is all about. In fact, lack of enough time to meet everyone is Holmes' only complaint about the program.

The advisers show the new students around the campus and give them information concerning SIUE. They also answer any questions that new SIUE students may have.

Both advisers like the idea of allowing students to introduce newcomers to the university. "They'll listen better to someone their own age," says Holmes. "We're not someone they have to listen to, but someone they want to listen to. They enjoy hearing from us."

All NSL advisers go through 10 weeks of training before the first new students attend orientation. The trainees learn the purpose of all important offices on campus. The advisers decide upon the agenda for the two-day program, and they also learn to handle emergencies when on duty.

Through experience, the NSL advisers learn what to emphasize, Holmes tells his group to ask questions. He tells them any question they believe to be a stupid question will probably be a good one. Along the same lines,

Miss Osley stresses there is always someone on campus to help students.

Both Holmes and Miss Osley are amused by some of the things they hear from new students. Holmes remembers two new female students talking about whether they should date other men when they come to SIUE in the fall. Miss Osley said that one student asked her if he had to have a backpack in order to fit in at the university. Many students at SIUE use backpacks to carry their books.

Lori Wojcik of Troy, a new student who recently experienced New Student Life, said the advisers were a lot of help. She was shown how to register for classes and given a tour. "I'm not scared anymore," she said.

Miss Osley sums up how she feels about her work: "I just love this job."

State fire losses down in '83

Governor James R. Thompson has announced that there has been a reduction in insured fire losses paid in Illinois for the second successive year.

"Although the $7.1 million reduction in 1982 was the $24.7 million (24 percent) reduction in 1981," the governor said, "it is a significant nine percent and indicates that fire prevention practices by the public are working and that the fire fighting techniques of our fire services are effective."

Losses paid under fire insurance policies by companies licensed to transact business in Illinois, as reported to the Illinois Department of Insurance, totaled $71.9 million in 1982. That does not include fire losses paid under package policies (homeowners and commercial multiple peril). Insurance officials estimate that if package policy fire losses were included, the total would be more than doubled.

The 1980 ($103,816,528), 1981 ($79,069,439) and 1982 figures also do not include uninsured or underinsured losses, losses paid by non-licensed insurance carriers or whatever co-insurance factors may have applied.
"Although total fire losses in 1982 may have exceeded $200 million," the governor said, "the reports for the three years do represent improvement and an encouraging trend."

Man fined $500 for cruelty to dog

A $500 fine on a cruelty to animals charge might seem to some like cruelty to humans.

It does not to Madison County Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand of Granite City who levied the fine against a Collinsville resident last week in city court in Collinsville.

Hildebrand said he would have sentenced the defendant to jail if he had had that power.

Collinsville city ordinances do not provide for jail terms. The maximum fine that can be levied is $500.

Judge Hildebrand said the man, Kevin Price, 21, of Oakwood Drive, told him he had been drinking before he struck his dog with a concrete block. The incident occurred Aug. 20 and Price was later ticketed by Collinsville police.

Police said the dog was destroyed because of its extensive injuries.

Hildebrand said the stiffness of the fine was intended to give the defendant the message that there is no justification for wanton cruelty.

It also was intended as a signal to others that such actions won't be tolerated, he said.

An officer of the Collinsville Humane Society said her organization was pleased with the judge's stance.

In addition to the $500 fine, Price must pay $50 in a state surcharge and $15 in court costs.

DUMPING ON CITY PROPERTY ALLEGED

Clifford A. Dellamano, 25, of 2816 Nameoki Drive and Raymond M. Israel, 20, of 2442 Adams St. were charged at 5:40 p.m. Monday with dumping old air-conditioner parts at the end of 24th Street near railroad tracks.

A dumping ban is posted on the city-owned property. It was alleged Dellamano also was charged with transporting beer, and Israel with possessing beer.

LOOT PARKED TRUCK

The parked pickup truck of Paul Turner, 137 Troecker Lane, Mitchell, was looted of $300 worth of tools Monday on Pontoon Road.

Your Kids — Their Future. WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT IT?

HERE IS WHAT THE SCHOOL DISTRICT HAS PLANNED FOR NEXT YEAR.

Todd is a gifted and bright seventh grader. He has already read the assignment his science class is discussing, and he is bored. The teacher has set up a special experiment for Todd and five others, who also have exceptional ability, so they can work ahead. First, though, the teacher has to be sure the other thirty-one students understand the lesson. By the time the teacher is finished answering all questions, time runs out. Todd stays bored.
